

David Kersey
Presenter of Animaker Summer Camp

David Kersey, an Arkansas native and graduate of the Savannah College of Art and Design, is an educator, entrepreneur, and artist. His focus for the past 15 years has been digital art and animation. David moved from Los Angeles, CA where he worked at The Walt Disney Company and Sony Pictures on films such as The Polar Express, The Chronicles of Narnia, Tangled and the highest grossing animated film of all time, Frozen. During David's time at Disney Feature Animation he worked on two Oscar winning production teams, Frozen, and the animated short film Feast. He was recently named executive director for the New Design School in Fayetteville and seeks to develop a world-class institution to enhance digital art education for students and professionals.

David will be the lead educator for the 12-16 year old Animaker Summer camp at the Scott Family Amazeum.
